Workers Compensation Injury Care Policy: Non-Idaho Cases (out of state)

Emergency Responders Health Center receives frequent requests to provide medical evaluation and comprehensive care for out-of-state workers compensation injuries involving first responders (firefighters, police officers and paramedics). ERHC medical providers are happy to review each case to determine if ERHC is able to provide the appropriate high-level care needed and deserved to assure a safe and rapid return-to-duty.

ERHC has provided short list of criteria requested before reviewing workers compensation cases:

1. Individual must have filed 'Notice of Injury' with their employer (fire, police and EMS agency).
2. Date of injury occurred within the past 3 months.
3. PTSD/PTSI cases (post-traumatic stress disorder): Patients must be seen on a regular basis (i.e. weekly).
4. Completion of ERHC Worker's Compensation Injury – History Form. Form available on ERHC website at www.er-hc.org (click on Occupational Health tab).
5. Worker compensation agency has agreed to accept Idaho Workers Compensation rates. Idaho Workers Compensation fee schedule link: <https://adminrules.idaho.gov/rules/current/17/170101.pdf>.
6. Letter from Worker's Compensation case manager with permission for Emergency Responders Health Center to provide care for a specific injury case, with stated agreement to accept Idaho Worker's Compensation rates.
7. Communication with employer/department about medical release information.

Once criteria above are met, a medical provider at ERHC will quickly review case and determine if ERHC is able to provide medical care. If accepted, the first office visit can be scheduled immediately (often can be seen same day).

For specific questions, please contact: Nathan Bodily (clinic manager): Phone (208)-229-3742.

Thank you,
ERHC HealthCare Team
